Eisenhower Taped Talk Repeat Set

Christmas Plea For Peace Given From Satellite

By C. YATES MCDANIEL

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's pride of the heavens soared high around the world today ready to send anew a presidential yuletide message of good will.

Jubilant architects of the four-ton Atlas said it would be early afternoon before they decide about retriggering their talking satellite to broadcast tape-recorded words from President Eisenhower.

The next step, when the scientists figure they have enough initial data in hand, will be to erase the message and send up another to be released by remote control as Atlas continues its travels.

See Vast Network

This second phase of the pioneering project promised to point the way to a revolution in communications — mass transmissions of sound and pictures to anywhere on earth through a satellite network.

And in the hours following Atlas' mighty blastoff from its Cape Canaveral, Fla., launching site Thursday night, statesmen assessed its boost to U.S. strength in the great East-West struggle.

Atlas struck another propaganda blow for this country at 3:15 p.m. Friday when, zipping at 17,000 m.p.h. over Cape Canaveral, it rebroadcast as scheduled a short Eisenhower message recorded Tuesday and carried aloft in the music cone.

"This is the President of the United States speaking," came the dramatic playback of Eisenhower's voice through some static and fading as in the early days of shortwave.

"Through the marvels of scientific advance, my voice is coming to you from a satellite traveling in outer space.

"My message is a simple one. Through this unique means I convey to you and to all mankind America's wish for peace on earth and good will toward men everywhere."

Eisenhower himself joined reporters in the office of presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty to hear his voice on a Pentagon-supplied recording of the signal reaching Canaveral.

"The President, in high spirits, fiddled with glasses in one hand as he listened intently. One sentence came through garbled, "but it didn't hurt the message any," Eisenhower said. Hagerty supplied the full text.

Laughs Over Remark

Eisenhower said perhaps television-in-space would be the next astounding invention. He laughed when a newsman suggested presidential news conferences might be held that way.

"Where would you people like to be then?" Eisenhower joked back.

The 85-foot, Atlas was not expected to slip back into eyefield from the continental United States until this evening.

Miss United States, College Student Wed

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Charlotte Sheffield, 22, the Miss United States for 1958, has a new title today. She became Mrs. M. Richard Maxfield Friday.

The couple is honeymooning in California. He is a University of Utah student, she a teacher.

Mystery Over Clerk Killing Increased By Big Insurance

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Police investigating the mystery slaying of a $400-a-month clerk are trying to figure out where $87,000 worth of life insurance fits into the picture — if it does.

James Bullock, 27, was found dying of bullet wounds in front of the City Art Museum Wednesday night. He worked for the Union Electric Co. by day, attended classes at the University of St. Louis three nights a week and Saturday, and sang in a church choir on Sunday.

His wife of six months, Edna Ruth, 23, added $250 a month to the couple's income as a kindergarten teacher. In addition, they

Karloff Niece Arrested For Son's Slaying

HASLEMERE, England (UPI) — Police today charged Mrs. Diana Bromley, attractive niece of horror actor Boris Karloff, with murdering one of her two sons who were found in the family home with their throats slashed.

The bodies of Martin John, 13, and Stephen, 10, were found by their father Thursday night. Mrs. Bromley was in the drawing room also with a throat wound.

She was taken before a magistrate in "naughty" Guildford today and formally charged with the murder of Martin. It is normal English legal practice to file only one charge in multiple killings.

Mrs. Bromley, 39, appeared pale and nervous as she stood before the magistrate. Detective Inspector George Cornish told the court that from inquiries he made, "I was satisfied she had caused the death" of Martin.

An inquest in the case of Karloff's slain great-nephews is expected to open here Tuesday.

The bodies of the boys were found Thursday night, a few hours after they had returned from boarding school to begin their Christmas vacation. They were found by their father, 47-year-old government official Thomas Bromley.

Mrs. Bromley is a daughter of Sir John Pratt, a brother of Karloff who was once an official of the foreign office. The actor's real name is William Henry Pratt.

Children Solve Mural Problem In Yule Season

BELLFLOWER, Calif. (AP) — A class of second graders at the Ernie Pyle school wanted Christmas scenery in their room but it seemed a shame to take down their fine dairy cow mural.

They had painted a series of cows while studying the dairy industry.

The children finally solved the problem. They drew in a series of Santa Clauses milking the cows.

received $130 a month rent on the other half of a recently-purchased duplex in which they lived.

That gave them a total of $780 a month — before taxes and deductions.

Police, who provided the figures, said that out of this modest income the couple was paying $255 a month on the duplex, $55 on a car, and $35 on furniture. They also were making payments on a $2,000 credit union loan used to make part of the down payment on the duplex, and paying premiums on the $87,000 worth of life insurance.

An insurance policy for $45,000 came to light Friday when a quarterly payment of $5.85 was due.

Police Yule Trees Taken

BOSTON (AP) — Police broadcast to all-points that their two Christmas trees had been stolen.

Headquarters said the trees vanished en route from a local florist shop. Neither the truck nor its driver could be found.

Five Perish, Ten Injured In Explosion

MEXICO CITY (AP) — An explosion wrecked the crowded La Randa Restaurant Friday night, killing an American woman and at least four other persons and critically injuring at least 10 others.

Police said the American woman was not immediately identified. Another one of the dead was believed to be either American or Canadian. A large party of Cubans was in the popular night spot when the explosion occurred.

Police first said it was caused by gas used in the kitchen but they began checking on the possibility that a bomb had gone off.

Police and firemen continued to search the debris for other bodies more than an hour after the explosion.

The restaurant-bar near the U.S. ambassador's residence had been popular with tourists.

The newly appointed ambassador to the United States, Antonio Carrillo Flores, narrowly escaped. He had stepped outside the restaurant seconds before the explosion.

British Airmen Killed By Mine

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Two British airmen were killed and a third wounded today by a mine which blew up their Royal Air Force water truck in eastern Cyprus.

It was the first serious incident in the island since a ceasefire was proclaimed Nov. 22 by EOKA, the Greek Cypriot terrorist movement fighting British forces in demands for union with Greece.

Khrushchev's Call Approved By Red Party

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist party's ruling Central Committee has ended a five-day meeting with solid endorsement of Premier Khrushchev's leadership.

A decree issued by the Committee Friday approved Khrushchev's call for Russian farmers to out-produce America and his blasts at fallen Soviet leaders.

Khrushchev opened the meeting Monday with the claim that Soviet farms already had surpassed the United States in some types of production. But he admitted major shortcomings remained in Russian agriculture.

The decree told collective and state farms to outdo the United States in production of meat, milk and butter. It called for higher incomes for collective farmers and a general expansion of agricultural production.

A radio broadcast of the decree listed the sins of the "anti-party group" of ousted leaders and said they had opposed nearly every aspect of Soviet farm policy.

Members of the group are former premiers V. M. Molotov, Georgi Malenkov and Nikolai Bulganin; ex-foreign minister Dimitri Shepilov, and former economic boss Lazar Kaganovich.

Weapon Fired At Canaveral

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Air Force has fired another highly classified air-to-ground weapon with a roar that rocked the nearby missile town of Cocoa Beach.

The shot came Friday when a jet plane swept in over the Cape and blasted the missile into the Atlantic. Earlier, a Bomarc had been fired on a successful intercept against two pilotless drone planes.

When the air-ground missile was released there was a loud boom and then seconds later, a puff of vapor trail shaped like a question mark appeared high in the Florida sky.

Russ Paper Slaps West As Intruder

Pravda Says NATO 'Has No Business' In Berlin Dispute

By HAROLD K. MILKS

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda complained bitterly today that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization has no business concerning itself with Berlin.

The NATO Council of Foreign Ministers issued a communique in Paris Tuesday saying that all the NATO nations are behind the United States, Britain and France in defiance of the Soviet Union over Berlin.

The Western Big Three have rejected Soviet demands that they withdraw their troops from occupation of West Berlin by next June 1. In making the demand on Nov. 27 Premier Khrushchev also said the Russians will give the East German Communist regime control over the 110-mile allied supply lines that connect West Berlin with West Germany if the Allies remain.

'Not Proper Place'

Pravda claimed the minister's council was not the proper place to discuss Berlin. The Communist party newspaper said no one expected "a memorandum of peace to emerge from the depths of this aggressive organization, but the very fact that the Berlin problem was included in the agenda is testimony to the NATO attempt to increase tension in Europe."

The government newspaper Izvestia said the NATO nations are "turning the rudder sharply towards an intensification of the cold war" by getting involved in the Berlin question.

In Berlin, the Soviet Union and Communist East Germany joined in issuing new warnings to the West against the use of force to reach West Berlin without East German permission after the satellite regime takes over controls.

NBC Correspondent Barred From Moscow

NEW YORK (UPI) — Irving R. Levine, NBC correspondent in Moscow, has been barred from the Russian capital on charges he violated Soviet censorship, NBC officials said today.

Levine was allowed to continue to use cable and telephone facilities, NBC said.

Levine, in a message telephoned to NBC offices in New York, said he was told he violated censorship Dec. 2 in a radio interview with Sen. (Robert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), then in Moscow.

Levine said he protested that Humphrey, a visiting senator, should not be subject to censorship. He was told that because the broadcast was under the auspices of a correspondent, it was subject to censorship.

Turkish Editor Sent To Prison, Insults Charged

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — A special press court has sentenced Yusuf Ziya Ademhan, chief editor of the opposition news magazine Akis, to 16 months' imprisonment for publishing articles allegedly insulting to Premier Adnan Menderes.

The magazine was ordered closed for one month. The court decisions are subject to appeal.

The sentences followed a retrial after an appeals court overthrew a 40-month sentence for Ademhan and a three-month suspension for Akis handed down earlier on the same charge.

Maryland-Virginia Oyster War To End

MT. VERNON, Va. (AP) — The Potomac River oyster wars between Maryland and Virginia fishermen may end today.

They've feuded since colonial days over fishing rights. In recent years a number of their skirmishes have brought gunfire and wounding.

A new agreement will regulate fishing laws in the Potomac, a common boundary of the two states.

Maryland and Virginia negotiators chose Mt. Vernon, home of George Washington, as the site for their settlement because it was here in 1795 that the original compact between the states was formulated.

Full details of the proposed new agreement have not been made known. The negotiators have said, however, they feel that a joint agency of the two states should handle administration of the Potomac's fish fishing resources.

Under the 1795 compact, Virginians were given equal fishing rights in the Potomac River, which Maryland owns to the low-water mark on the Virginia side. Virginians agreed to allow free passage of Maryland ships through the Virginia Capes. Fishing laws were to be enacted by the legislatures of the two states, with concurrence of both necessary for any change.

Troubles arose which led to patrolling the river by state government boats. In the late 1940s Maryland patrol boats were armed with submachine guns.

Both states voted as a conservation measure to close the river to dredging for oysters. Virginia took this action in 1930 and Maryland in 1931. Virginia again legalized power dredging of oysters three years later but Maryland insisted oysters must be taken with hand tongs. This touched off the oyster wars between fishermen of the two states and conservation officials patrolling the river.

Patrol boats, generally from Maryland, chased the oyster dredgers and frequently got into gunfights. At least one man was killed and an unknown number wounded in the last decade.

Rountree Flies Back To America

ATHENS (AP) — William Rountree left by plane for London today on his way back to Washington. The U. S. assistant secretary of state stopped here for two days after touring the Middle East for almost two weeks.

The Greek Information Ministry issued a statement saying Rountree's visit here had no specific purpose. He discussed the Middle East and the Cyprus problem with Greek officials, the ministry said.

Pilot Union Leaves Jobs At Midnight

18-Month Dispute Leads To Walkout Of 1,500 Employees

CHICAGO (AP) — A strike by some 1,500 pilots today shut down American Airlines, grounding the second of the nation's major air carriers on the eve of the holiday travel rush.

The Air Line Pilots Assn. struck midnight Friday.

Negotiations here broke down with an ALPA spokesman's statement that "it looks like a long, hard strike."

Stemming from an 18-month dispute, the strike posed a handicap for Christmas travelers.

Eastern Air Lines flight engineers and mechanics walked out over wage demands Nov. 24 and that line has been tied up 26 days. In New York, a company spokesman said the pilots, one hour before the strike deadline, had renewed a demand for a 75-hour work month instead of an 85-hour work month for pilots on jet aircraft.

C. R. Smith, president of American, said in a statement: "No responsible air line could agree to the present demands of the Air Line Pilots Assn. The demands are arbitrary and unjustified. There is no good reason for a reduction in hours. At this time, some of the pilots are flying 10 days a month, with 20 days a month off, and it would be difficult to improve these working conditions."

The airline announced that all flights were cancelled through next Friday. A complete embargo was placed on all air freight and air express until further notice.

The company said it would keep open ticket and reservations offices to help passengers secure alternate travel arrangements.

It was estimated that more than 24,000 passengers had been knocked out of their Christmas travel reservations. About 5,000 of them had bookings on flights from New York area airports.

An American Airlines spokesman said that as much as one-third of the nation's daily air travel was affected by the walkouts at AA and EAL. American has a daily passenger load of 24,000 and claims to be the biggest carrier.

A pilots union official said in Chicago that "the strike could go on for as long as six months." He accused American of "extreme stubbornness," but an American spokesman termed the AA offer "the best in the industry."

Levert Edwards, chief mediator and chairman of the National Mediation Board, said: "I thought we had enough on the table to reach an agreement, but an impasse has been reached on working conditions; it does not look like a quick settlement will be effected."

The ALPA said American has offered a contract, which equals the Eastern Air Lines' settlement pact in money for both jet and piston engine operations. However, the pilots said working conditions offers did not measure up to the Eastern contract.

The pilots contend the current American pay scale, ranging from $400 to $1,600 monthly, is lower than wages of other airlines. However, an American spokesman said top pay for pilots would jump from $1,600 monthly to $2,334 if the American offer was to be accepted.

Federal Agency To Protect Consumers Against Rackets

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission is adopting a new practice aimed at providing better protection of the American consumer's pocketbook.

In the past, the Commission has alerted the public to sharp practices only when it has filed formal complaints against businesses alleged to be erring.

The FTC hopes its new policy will put a stronger spotlight on trickery, and make it less profitable. Members of Congress and others frequently have complained about the length of time it takes to process many FTC cases, some of which drag on for several years.

The FTC hopes to blunt some of these complaints through its new warning system.

In addition of alerting the public, warnings will serve notice that a racket is under investigation.

Harry A. Babcock, FTC's executive director, said today legal action will be taken after almost every warning.

The FTC recently issued its first two warnings—one about phony French perfumes and another outlining a scheme for bilking businessmen who want loans.

Making Test Run When Rocket Almost Finished Him

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON (AP) — "There I was on my back at 30,000 feet," wheezed Santa Claus, "and—Whoosh! — this thing whizzed past me and just after I stopped shaking — Whoosh! — this other thing came whooshing past me—"

"There, there, dear," soothed his wife, "drink this nice cup of tranquillizer and relax. After all, you've got a big job ahead of you."

"I do, do I?" said Santa, rising up on one elbow. "Maybe I won't do it this year. Maybe I'll let those sweet little kiddies get their own presents this year. This delivery job is getting too dangerous. Wow!"

"I was making this test run, see, just checking, and these satellite things came whooshing past me from all directions. Golly gee, it was like Labor Day night on a turnpike."

"Mom, I'm getting too old for this job."

"Nonsense," interrupted Mrs.

Claus briskly. "Think of all the nice folks if you really knew Santa."

"All they do is snarl at each other," he said. "All their satellites do is beep at each other. Although," Santa went on thoughtfully, "there is that new one, the one that dented the fender of my sled."

"There may be something to be said for a race that still talks at this time of year about lace and good will."

"Hand me my boots, old girl. I'll give 'em one more chance."

Bomber Crash Report Denied
By A. F. Officer

BIG SPRING, Tex. (UPI)—Webb Air Force Base commander Col. James A. Johnson said Friday night that a report which touched off a search for a supposedly crashed B47 jet bomber was unfounded.

Johnson said Air Force crews were sent out following a report from the Ector County sheriff's office at Odessa, Tex., that a plane had crashed 15 miles west of here.

There was speculation at first that a nuclear device was involved.

Johnson said the report was a "false alarm," brought on apparently by the sight of vapor trails of three high-flying airplanes around sunset.

Church-State Fights Erupt At Yuletide

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

The joyous Christmas season, dedicated by Christians to their Prince of Peace, seems to be getting more and more involved in the touchy church and state controversy.

Last week, a New York State Supreme Court justice ruled it permissible for the Ossining, N.Y., school board to display a Christmas creche—a Nativity scene—on the lawn of the town's junior-senior high school.

The very next day, the School Board in Levittown, N.Y., voted 5-1 not to display a similar creche on the grounds of one of its public schools.

Last year, a group of parents in Delaware Township, N. J., protested the staging of a Nativity play by children in an elementary school, partly on the grounds that it ran counter to their religious beliefs.

Those are not isolated incidents, peculiar to the communities of Ossining, Levittown and Delaware Township. They are skirmishes in the cross-country war of words over what is called "separation of church and state."

The arguments used recently on both sides in the public school Christmas controversy are worth noting for the question is basic, overlaid with emotion and difficult to solve—and we're going to have it around in some form for a long time.

Justice Elbert T. Gallagher of the New York State Supreme Court, who ruled in favor of those who wanted to place the creche on the school lawn in Ossining: "The court is of the opinion that the influence, if any, of religious symbolism, is inescapable during the Christmas season."

"It would be difficult to say that, as a practical matter, any greater influence exists by virtue of the fact that the symbol is permitted on public as well as private property."

Isaac Toubin, executive director of the American Jewish Congress, which plans to file a brief as "friend of the court" in support of some 28 Jews and non-Jews who protested the creche: "The basic question at issue is whether a scene depicting the birth of Jesus—a symbol of one religion—may be placed on public property that belongs to people of all religions."

A statement attributed to a group of Ossining residents who favor displaying the creche: "The overwhelming majority of the citizens in our community accept the fact that Jesus Christ is the Son of God and that his birth, which Christmas commemorates, was the most important single event in the history of the world."

Philip Jacobson, a lawyer, writing in a recent issue of the Christian Century, a non-denominational Protestant journal: "Each society... is entitled to decide for itself whether generally accepted habits of thought are suited to new conditions."

"But when some spokesmen for the Christian community appear ready to sacrifice religious freedom on the altar of majority right, I feel impelled to raise the danger signal."

Strike Ends At Chrysler

DETROIT (UPI)—The first of 42,000 Chrysler Corp. employees idled by an 18-day strike returned to work today to refill the parts pipelines in preparation for resuming full production.

Chrysler reached agreement with the union on new working conditions in the Dodge main plant Friday and members of the striking United Auto Workers Union Local 3 voted overwhelmingly in favor of the agreement Friday night.

Only 7,100 employees in Chrysler's Dodge main plant were directly involved in the strike.

As of latest word the east-bound Atlas was rounding the globe every 101 minutes, 14.4 times a day, at heights from 114 to 928 miles.

One quick effect of Atlas on the international scene was to strengthen the West's hand in the coming showdown with Russia over the future of Berlin.

Top U.S. officials expressed belief that the spectacular show of U.S. power in missiles would well have a sobering effect on Soviet Premier Khrushchev. They looked for a diplomatic, rather than a military, clash over the onetime German capital.

West European scientists saw the launching as a great stride toward man's first voyage into space. Newspapers there said the United States had forged ahead of the Russians. Moscow Radio broadcast the news without comment.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The Sandman Came First

She thought she'd wait up for Santa. The sandman came first. But she'll have no regrets when she wakes up tomorrow. Christmas is so wonderful, it doesn't really matter whether you heard the reindeer's hoofs on the roof or saw the jolly old elf open his pack.

Like the heart of Christmas, it's not important that we weren't at Bethlehem... we didn't see the star... we didn't kneel at the manger. We can even erase the years when Christmas has found us tangled in tinsel and asleep to God.

For Christ is born! The hopes and fears of all the years have melted into one eternal Truth.

A gift is ours when we awake to discover it, reach for it, cling to it.

The Christ men worship in their churches and homes is God's gift to you and me.

Althea Gibson Goes From Net To Film Work

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Tennis star Althea Gibson lobbied her net career into temporary limbo today to volley around the sound stages with John Wayne and William Holden in a new movie.

The soft-spoken Negro athlete is as excited about her film debut as she is before a championship match.

"My goodness, who wouldn't be thrilled working with Wayne and Holden," she said. "They're the very best in the business."

"I've never had a minute's dramatic coaching. Never look a lesson in my life. Come to think of it, I've never been on a stage before, except to sing a couple of times on Ed Sullivan television shows."

"But I don't believe I got the part in the picture just because of my tennis fame. I wouldn't be in Hollywood today if Director John Ford didn't think I could do the part the way he wants it done. So I'll do the best I can. I've done that all my life."

Has Dramatic Role

Articulate and unassuming, Althea will play a housemaid in a southern mansion during the War between the States in "The Horse Soldiers."

It's no walk-on part to capitalizing on her name value. Althea has several highly dramatic scenes requiring a professional performance.

"I didn't even know I had the part until a couple of weeks ago," she smiled. "I took a screen test quite a while back, but I didn't have any idea how it would turn out."

"Before accepting the role I checked very carefully to make certain the job wouldn't interfere with my amateur status as a tennis player. That's the most important thing in my life."

Althea says she has given up competitive tennis for a year, but will continue to work out to keep in shape and, on occasion, take part in exhibition matches because "so many of my friends want to see me play."

Like most newcomers to Hollywood, Althea is anxious to meet the stars.

Will Travel Abroad

"I want to see all of them," she enthused, "especially Frank Sinatra."

"This picture might open an entire new career for me. It might be nice to become a full-time actress, but it all depends on how well I perform this time. One thing good about living in Hollywood — I could play tennis all year long. I like golf, too, and hope to play during the next month."

Following her screen debut, Althea heads abroad on a State Department goodwill tour.

Althea is a tall, gangling girl in repose, but when she moves there is a liveness, an agile cat-like quality about her. She was dressed casually in a red blouse, black shorts and sandals.

"I think tennis has prepared me a little bit for acting," she said.

"Through tennis I learned poise and dignity. You stand alone out there on the court and have no one else but yourself to blame for your mistakes. I believe acting is a lot that way, too."

Dialect Jokes No Longer In "Good Taste"

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Audiences have become too thin-skinned for comedian Danny Thomas who says dialect jokes are a forgotten art, thanks to over-sensitive groups and individuals.

"From now on I'm going to use as much dialect material as possible in my guest appearances," Danny vowed. "I can't use dialect stuff on my own show because it doesn't fit in."

"I'll do Yiddish, Greek, Arabic, Negro, Italian and Irish vernaculars, and to heck with the squawks."

"Dialect jokes are the best weapons available to fight prejudice. People who complain about dialect bias cause more bigotry than they prevent. After all, everybody in this country belongs to some kind of minority group."

Thomas deplores deletion and changes of lyrics in "Old Man River" and Stephen Foster's classics.

Worked As Candy Butcher

"Those songs glorify a great and colorful era in American history. It's abominable that they have been altered," he said.

"When I was 11 years old I took a job as candy butcher in a Toledo, Ohio, theater. During the seven years I worked there I saw the greatest dialecticians in show business. Whenever the audience was in an absolute uproar, laughing itself to death, you could bet 99 per cent of the time the comedian was doing dialects."

"There was no hatred nor hurt feelings. The people loved it."

"And I'll tell you why: In those days you lived in neighborhoods where the butcher was usually German, the tailor Yiddish, the cop Irish and the fruit peddler Italian. Their native accents were a part of everyday life."

"Sure, they beefed and fought with one another, but they loved each other, too."

People Proud Of Backgrounds

"Those people were proud of their backgrounds and old-country culture. Their laughter was genuine when they heard a visiting comic mimic their mannerisms and accents."

Danny's own beginnings in show business included dialects. But he gave them up in 1941 when he was advised that the road to stardom wasn't paved with imitations of other stars nor the accents of racial groups.

Occasionally he works in a character with a strong dialect on his CBS-TV "Danny Thomas Show." Usually it is a warm-hearted characterization which keeps his audience from becoming mutinous.

"One of these days I'm going to give a block party in my neighborhood in Beverly Hills," Danny went on. "Everyone will wear costumes representing their family origins."

"It would help us all get to know one another better."

"Nobody has anything to be ashamed of regarding his national origins — and by golly I'm trying to prove it."

A heavy skin and mealiness are requisites of potatoes used for baking.

Jack Webb Seeking Way To Salvage TV Series

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Jack Webb is more tenacious off-screen than when he's playing Joe Friday on his "Dragnet" series, and he's proving it by attempting to save his $70,000 baby — a new TV show that nobody wants.

Titled "Pete Kelly's Blues," Webb's new offering is gathering dust instead of sponsors, and Jack is upset about it.

"I can't understand why it hasn't been sold," Webb fumed after a private showing of the pilot film in his own projection room.

"The apathy of the networks is amazing. Personally, I think the flapper era scares the powers that be. To me the 1920s were the most feverish, colorful times of this century."

"It was an era when hoods and society mixed elbow to elbow. It was a time when Lindbergh flew the Atlantic, and people were the happiest in history because they thought they had fought the war to end all wars. The greatest athletes of the century were setting new records."

Jack plunked down the 70 grand following his movie version of "Pete Kelly," which proved to be a hit.

Jack starred in the movie, but he doesn't appear in the TV show — and that could spell the difference.

A handsome young guy named Bill Reynolds plays the title role, and plays it well. Still, he is not Jack Webb. Chances are if Jack were starring in the series it would be sold instantly.

"The show has the same hard hitting qualities that 'Dragnet' has — and then some," Webb continued. "Violence on TV in modern times is hard to swallow. There isn't any reason for it. But in the 20's killings and mob rule were common."

"Crime was an accepted part of society when the racketeers were at their height. And women were slugged as freely as men."

"But most of all — and we stress this in the scripts — story was having its heyday. Our story is about a musician who gets mixed up with the underworld, a natural outgrowth of working in speakeasies."

Throughout Webb's pilot film there is an underlying background of smooth, haunting jazz. Several scenes are dedicated to the bandstand where Kelly and conferees beat out the wildest barrelhouse and Dixieland recorded in recent years.

"Television is passing up the 20's," Webb said.

Anglo-Saxon Names Used In TV Shows

NEW YORK (AP) — If you've studied up carefully on the heres of television action series you must have noticed that they all seem to have Anglo-Saxon names and the inference is that their people have been here since Plymouth Rock.

The only exception I can think of is Mike Kovac, the freelance photographer hero in the weekly series "Man With a Gun" (ABC-TV, Fridays, 9 p.m., EST). Kovac grew up on the Manhattan lower East Side and his people came recently from central Europe.

Charles Bronson, a Pennsylvania coal miner's son who looks somewhat like the late John Garfield, plays the role of Kovac. Discussing the generic pasts of TV heroes generally and Kovac especially the other day, Bronson said:

"I don't think the heroes are characterized as they are for any reasons of prejudice against nationalities or groups. After all, this country is a melting pot. Everybody is trying to speak better English. Everybody likes to feel that he and his people are at home here — have been here a long time."

"But I think that Don Sharpe and Warren Lewis, the executive producers of 'Man With a Gun,' were right in creating a hero named Kovac who grew up on the lower East Side and is only a generation removed from central Europe."

"It somehow gives Kovac the capacity for great sensitivity to the lot of others at the same time that he possesses great physical strength and activity. That, at least, is the way I feel and play Kovac. You get humanly involved with him."

"It's interesting to me that in most of the top-rated action shows you can't get humanly involved with the hero. He has one face for a thousand emotions. In fact, he doesn't have a thousand emotions. He's just there, always dead-pan, and you can't get humanly involved with him."

TV Show Uses One Fictitious Person

HOLLYWOOD — (UPI) — "Shotgun Gibbs," a new character introduced this season on TV's "Life and Legend of Wyatt Earp," never really existed.

"Earp had so many deputies who worked with him over the years," explains writer Frederick Hazlitt Brennan, "and they had so many descendants, it would be very difficult obtaining clearances for them all. It was easier to put 'Shotgun' into the typewriter."

Your Horoscope

For Sunday, December 21, 1968

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — You can always make a better day out of a mediocre one by sheer determination, gradualness and the will to win. It's your approach and your attitude that count. Show your initiative.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — While some details may lag, you can achieve in other matters — and in the "little things" that really count in the end. Be prepared for certain changes — some excellent.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — Cooperation, determination and coordination are essential now. Be guided in what you do by the demands of your position and other duties. Get things real, too.

JUNE 22 to JULY 21 (Cancer) — The galaxy you are within yourself, the more you will accomplish, and the quicker you will earn time for recreation. Keep eyes open over business and personal matters. Go easy! Wait if necessary.

OCTOBER 21 to NOVEMBER 21 (Scorpio) — Think before acting, study, analyze, review, investigate. You can make something very worthwhile out of this wonderful day. Begin working on matters a second thought before acting. Pessimism is an influence more mellow, friendly for human interests.

NOVEMBER 22 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — Make a sincere effort to digest the suggestions others offer. Be a good thing for the world to have. A good time for renewing old contracts, strengthening new ones. Start planning for the new week.

YOU BORN TODAY are observing, straightforward, self-reliant. Keen about business affairs, you are able to handle things under all conditions — but especially in emergencies. This, of course, if you live up to your innate gifts. Avoid hate in making decisions, being too outspoken and impatient with slow people. Direct your enthusiasm carefully. Birthdate of Benjamin Franklin, British Statesman; Albert Einstein, Physicist; and Albert P. J. (King Features Inc.)

Colts Dominate 1958 NEA Players' All-Pro Team

U.S. Netters Cinch Berth With Aussies In Cup Finals

PERTH, Australia (UPI)—The United States clinched the right to meet Australia in the Davis Cup challenge round today when Alex Olmedo and Hamilton Richardson scored a grueling 7-9, 6-4, 13-11, 7-5 triumph over Italy's Orlando Sirola and Nicola Pietrangeli in the interzone final.

The doubles victory, following the two opening singles wins, gave the U.S. tennis team an unbeatable 3-0 lead in the best-of-five match series and reduced the final two singles matches to mere "exhibitions." The United States will attempt to regain the famous cup from defending champion Australia in Brisbane, Dec. 29-31.

Olmedo, who started the United States on the victory path by beating Pietrangeli, 5-7, 10-8, 6-0, 6-1, in the first singles match, was the hero of the three-hour clinching doubles triumph. The 22-year-old Peruvian, a student at the University of Southern California, rallied the tired and off-form Richardson repeatedly.

Olmedo, picked by U.S. non-playing Captain Perry Jones in a surprise move that bypassed hard-hitting Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, did not lose his service once during the entire match and was a tower of strength after the Italians took a 2-1 lead in the fourth set.

Prestige Wins First-Half Title

Prestige won the first-half race in the Kelly Tenpin League by a half game, winding up by shutting out Road Trac, 3-0, Explorers, finishing second, took a 3-0 sweep over Celebrity and Safe Trac, 2-1.

Don Decker of Prestige (227-625) had top set while Merle Jackson of Super Flex (227-578) posted high game.

Other team leaders were "Chief" Lasher, 205-550, Road Trac; Curtis Brant, 221-579, Explorers; Charles Crabtree, 202-584, Celebrity; Zee Dinning, 198-529, Safe Trac.

The league will stage a singles and doubles tourney Sunday, January 4, starting at 2 p. m. Final first-half standings:

WVU Seeks

the nation defensively, but with the Mountaineers hitting 76.2 percent of their shots in the first half and 54 per cent altogether, the Cowboys were never in the running.

West Virginia ace Jerry West drew personal fouls early and since he wasn't needed badly anyway, sat out a good share of the unequal contest along with the other Mountaineer regulars. West tallied 12 points, Bucky Boloyard 14 and Bob Smith 12.

Oklahoma State pulled to within 15 points with about seven minutes left to play, but West Virginia never lost command of the situation as it ran up its seventh victory in eight starts this season.

West Virginia shot into an early 8-0 lead, increasing that to 18-4 with 10 minutes played. The Mountaineers made 16 of 21 shots in the first half and pulled down 17 rebounds.

Oklahoma State made only 26 per cent of its shots in the first half, sinking nine of 35 field goals. The Cowboys failed to convert a single free throw in eight tries before the intermission.

The tight defensive play of Willie Akers' and Bob Clouson, on State's big man proved to be the key to the WVU victory. Akers picked up six points in the first half while holding Clark to four points. But the 6-foot-8 Cowboy broke loose in the late stages when the issue was not in doubt.

The Oklahoma State ball control was expected to give West Virginia trouble, but the Mountaineers' sudden offensive surge shocked the westerners and they never completely recovered.

WVU's biggest lead in the first half was 36-12 near the half. The Mountaineers boosted that to 57-34 at one time in the second half.

Kentucky had even less trouble making its record reach a perfect seven out of seven, hitting 22 of 44 shots in the first half to take a 52-32 lead over the Buckeyes.

Only Bob Furry's 25-point shooting kept Ohio State from a complete rout as Kentucky set a new KIT record with its 95 points, and the two teams together set a new game mark of 171.

Slusher, getting his first real chance as a varsity performer, came through brilliantly by racking up nine of Kentucky's first 12 points.

By repeating last season's 77-70 upset of Kentucky, West Virginia could become the first team other than the host Wildcats to win the KIT twice.

JIM BROWN LEADS THE ATTACK

Giants Favored By 6-5 Against Browns Sunday

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Giants will try to climax a late-season surge Sunday by defeating the Cleveland Browns for a berth opposite the Baltimore Colts in the National Football League championship game and a player Christmas jackpot that could reach $200,000.

The Giants tied the Browns for the Eastern Division title last Sunday and set up a playoff game in Yankee Stadium when Pat Summerall booted a 49-yard field goal through falling snow with 127 seconds to go. The Colts clinched the Western Division title Nov. 30 and probably will be favored whether they visit the Giants or Browns for the Dec. 28 championship game.

A crowd of 70,000 will jam Yankee Stadium Sunday for a game which probably will be played in 30-degree temperature on fairly solid turf if the weather forecast holds true. Additional hundreds of thousands of fans will see or hear the game on CBS TV-radio, beginning at 2 p. m. e.s.t.

Giants Favored
New York was favored at 6 to 5 in man-to-man betting. Broadway oddsmakers quoted the Giants as 5 1/2 to 6 1/2 favorites. This meant a New York backer would have to risk $5.50 to win $5, while a Cleveland backer would get $5.50 for a $5 wager.

If the score is tied at the end of the regulation game, the teams will go into "sudden death" overtime with the first team to score qualifying to play host to the Colts.

Summerall's field goal last Sunday gave the Giants a 13-10 triumph. The Giants also won Nov. 2 at Cleveland, 21-17, and Sunday they will try to become the only club to whip the Browns three times in a season.

The players split the net receipts from the Dec. 28 championship game, which will be played at Yankee Stadium or Cleveland's Municipal Stadium.

Browns Have More Speed
That means Sunday's winners probably will collect about $3,000 each even if they lose to the Colts and could receive nearly $5,000 apiece if they defeat Baltimore.

The weather and condition of the field will play large roles in Sunday's game. The Browns have far more speed than the Giants and should benefit from a dry field.

Fullback Jim Brown and halfbacks Ray Renfro, Bob Mitchell and Leroy Bolden are Cleveland's speed boys. Each runs 100 yards in less than 10 seconds.

New York's key weapons are a strong defense and experienced quarterbacks in Charley Conerly and Don Heinrich. They are not good runners but Frank Gifford, the left halfback, is a master of the option play.

Milt Plum, Cleveland's quarterback, is just rounding out his first full season as a starting player. No other club went so far with such an inexperienced quarterback this season.

Team To England
NEW YORK (UPI)—The Dartmouth Rugby team will leave for England Friday for a series of four matches, including contests Oxford and Cambridge. The team will return home Jan. 3.

Berry, Parker, Unitas, Moore On Offense Unit

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA)—Five years ago, Baltimore had no professional football. A ragged bunch of disenfranchised Dallas Texans came to the headwaters of Chesapeake Bay to regroup as the Baltimore Colts.

But in 1958, the Baltimore Colts, champions of the Western Division of the National Football League, placed six men on the All-Players All-Pro team, named today by NEA Service and the Evening Times.

They added five more on the All-Pro second team, determined in a valid poll of the toughest jury of all, the players of the 12 teams.

Gino Marchetti, one of the two remnants of that Dallas team, drew more votes than any other man; a mark of respect as the greatest defensive end.

Ray Berry, the self-made pass receiver, hauled in more ballots than any other member of the offensive platoon. This is the first time that the skinny kid from Southern Methodist with the contact lenses received any kind of all-pro attention.

It was a year of turnover in all-star selection. Ten new men were inaugurated into the all-pro class in this fourth annual players' poll.

Del Shofner, playing his first year in football as an end (he was in the defensive secondary last year for the Rams) joins Berry on the receiving line. Jim Parker of the Colts, a sophomore tackle, teams with veteran Rosy Brown of the Giants.

Ray Wietecha of the Giants gets long-merited recognition at center, and a new halfback tandem of Col Lenny Moore and Ram Jon Arnett displaced perennials Frank Gifford and Ollie Matson as the first team halfbacks.

On defense, Bob Gain of the Browns and Gene Lipscomb of the Colts at the tackle spots, and middle linebacker Sam Huff and safety Jim Patton of the Giants were all-pro debutants.

The Rams, with Arnett, Shofner and guard Duane Putnam, challenged the offensive supremacy of the Colts, who placed four. Honors were more evenly divided on defense, with the Giants, Lions and Colts each grabbing a pair of positions.

The Eagles, Cardinals and Forty-Niners were the only clubs shut out in first team selections.

Frank's Spills Pacing Spas

Frank's Tavern picked up ground the hard way in the South End Beer and Liquor Dealers' Bowling League by handing front-running Spa Bar a 2-1 setback. The pair of wins moved Frank's to within a game of knocking the race.

Veterans of Foreign Wars also gained ground by blanking Fourth District Democrats while Wonder Bar shut out DAV, 3-0, and Racey & Lynn edged King's Tavern, 2-1.

Pacing their teams were Rich Clay, 243-481, Wonder Bar; Herb Lapp 209 and Garlitz 413, DAV; Jim Eckard 212 and Fred "Beef" Corbin 542, VFW; Warnick, 203-541, Spa Bar; Hanes 199 and Riggelman 514, Frank's; Shadwell, 195-500, King's; George Sachs, 188-483, Racey & Lynn; Joe Grimm 180 and Harp Bland 463, Democrats. FOR THE DEFENSE...

INDIANS WIN FIFTH IN ROW, TOP LASALLE FIVE, 51-46

LaSalle High and Mt. Savage waged a basketball tug-of-war last night on the SS. Peter and Paul court with the revitalized Indians of coach Johnny Thomas stretching their undefeated streak to five games by side tracking the Explorers, 51-46.

Mt. Savage now has won three more games than the Indians could take all last season in 21 attempts while LaSalle, losers only once to 22-regular season clashes in 1957-58, has been beaten four times in six efforts.

Poor Free-Throw Show
A woefully weak performance at the free-throw line cost the Explorers as they outgauged the invaders, 21 to 19, but managed only four charity tosses, in 13 attempts. The Indians slammed in 13 of 27 attempts.

The contest was tied eight times before a goal by Leroy Morris put the Redskins on top, 41-40, for the final time.

Jack Lowery and Ed Trimble followed Morris with baskets and freshman Mike Long, hero in the Explorers' victory over Beall, brought LaSalle within three points with a twin-pointer, 45-42, but Mt. Savage held to the lead for the triumph. The lead changed hands 15 times.

Centur Mike Mackert and forward Mickey Scalletta left the game via the personal foul route. LaSalle's Dan Williams made his exit via the same path for Mt. Savage. Mackert left with 1:20 and Scalletta with 30 seconds in the final period from the host quint, while Williams departed from the scene with 6:40 remaining.

Lowery showed the way in scoring for the Thomasmen with 19 points. Mike Firlie and Jim Tomet led the George Getz-coached Explorers with 13 tallies apiece.

Rick Harris Named Guard On All-WVIC

BECKLEY, W. Va. (UPI)—Fourth place Fairmont and champion Glenville placed five players on the 1958 West Virginia Conference football team announced Friday by secretary George Springer.

The secretary said voting by league coaches was so close that several ties resulted, necessitating the selection of 14 players. The only repeaters from last year are center Joe Hockman and fullback Blair Shepherd and fullback Blair (Red) Weese of Tech.

The final standings, determined by the league's rating system, showed Glenville first with 115 points, followed by Shepherd with 114, Tech 83.3 and Fairmont 82.5.

Glenville's representatives are a end Steve McMillon and halfback Paul McKown. Fairmont landed guard Rick Harris, former La Salle High of Cumberland, Md., star center Dave Knight and halfback Moses Guin.

The remaining lineup:

Spear had 26 points and Patton hooped 23 as the Huskies won their fourth game in five attempts and swept the series with Salisbury. Hazelborth had 17 markers for the losers.

Northern's JV's gave the invaders a sweep by taking the preliminary, 24-23, over the Salisbury Junior Varsity.

Ladies Dux Race Three-Way Knot

Old Exports blanked Pyrofax Gas, 3-0, and Capitals dropped a 2-1 decision to Frank's Team in the Ladies City Bowling League. With the shutout and win by Frank's the race was thrown into a three-way tie between Pyrofax, Frank's and Capitals.

Old Germans also scored a sweep, spilling Diamonds, 3-0. Mary Hartley of Capitals scored a double by posting top game (202) and best set (512).

Shortage Of Water Victimizes Barton

Residents Of Top Area Lack Supply

Freezing Of Streams
Cited As Reason;
Pipe Pressure Low

The town of Barton is struggling through a critical water shortage as its sources of supply have been curtailed by the extreme cold weather.

From 60 to 75 families on the hilly sections of the Georges Creek community have been without water for over a week.

These same homes had no supply from city system for 14 days in November, according to Alex Cross, town water supervisor.

Streams Frozen

Cross attributed the short supply in the town's reservoir to freezing of streams that make up its source of supply.

The lower (flat) section of the town has water, but the pressure is very low.

In that section, however, there would not be sufficient amount for firefighting purposes, Cross said.

Some of the shortage has been due to people letting their spigots run open to keep water pipes from freezing, the supervisor charged.

Some residences on the hill-sides have wells which give them a supplementary source. These were dug as the high points have been without water on other occasions.

Much Water Carried

As before, their neighbors depend on them for their drinking water.

But many have had to send their laundry out of town. Water has to be carried into the homes for sanitary purposes.

Cross emphasized the danger of fire and the subsequent lack of pressure or supply in various sections of the community.

He said the town has three pumps, but these are of no use when the supply is so short.

Barton Elementary School has a well and has not been affected greatly by the shortage.

Rawlings Area Fire Stopped

Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company and employees of the State Department of Forests and Parks brought a fire under control last night after it burned over a quarter-mile section of Port Hill at Black Oak near Rawlings.

The firemen, according to Louis Winters, assistant chief, were called at 3:40 p. m. yesterday when the blaze neared some residences at the foot of the hill.

Cresaptown's pumper had a flat tire on one of its rear dual wheels, enroute to the fire, but continued on without stopping, Winters said.

The unit also took its jeep which is equipped to go over rough terrain. The 11 firemen were aided by Senior Forest Supervisor Brooke Bodkin and Forester George Brown and residents.

The fire covered one quarter mile of the mountain from the top to bottom before it was brought under control four hours later.

A FRIEND, INDEED—This well from which Mrs. Joan Craig, LaRoe Street, Barton, is drawing water has become very essential in the lives of her household and some of her neighbors. The town's water supply is extremely low and homes on the hill-sides have had no water for a week. A number of homes very handily have retained, or dug wells to meet the often recurring shortage in the high points of the community. Streams feeding the reservoir have been frozen.

Once Prominent Theatre Operator In City Dies

Warren Mellinger, 88, of 316 Fayette Street, prominent in theatrical circles in Cumberland for many years, died at 11:30 p. m. yesterday in Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Mellinger and his brother, the late Frederick P. Mellinger, entered the theatrical business in 1907 when they took over the old Academy of Music.

In this building where the present City Hall stands many of the top road shows of the early 1900's appeared.

Ridgeley's annual Christmas tree lighting program and party for children will be held Monday night as a project of several organizations of that community.

The lights will be turned on at 7:30 p. m. when the switch is pulled by Mayor Charles H. Fryer who will be the principal speaker at the program which will be held at the corner of Polomac Street and Third Avenue opposite the fire hall.

Master of ceremonies will be William C. Knieriem, commander of Knobel Mountain Post 138, American Legion, one of the participating organizations.

Rev. Harold L. May, pastor of Calvary Methodist Church, will give the invocation.

Benediction will be given by Rev. Robert Kilgannon, pastor of St. Anthony's Catholic Church, Santa Claus will distribute candy, popcorn balls and oranges to the children of the community.

Last year over 200 children were given a Christmas treat and about as many are expected Monday night. There will be appropriate recorded Christmas music during the evening.

Participating organizations include the American Legion, Volunteer Fire Company, Lions Club, Rod and Gun Club and Legion Auxiliary.

The committee in charge of arrangements includes John B. Gafford, child welfare officer of the Police Post, Roland Showers Sr., service officer and Commander Knieriem.

The town tree will be trimmed today by Ridgeley firemen.

Local Schedules Yule Food Gifts

Local 180, Glass and Ceramics Workers, AFL-CIO, will distribute Christmas food baskets to striking members at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant, according to Arthur Maness, financial secretary.

The baskets, he said, may be picked up Tuesday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. at the Bowman's Addition Fire Hall.

All members of Local 180 who are not working, or have temporary work which does not provide adequate income, are eligible to receive a basket.

Each basket, Maness said, will include a chicken, fresh vegetables, canned foods, bread and fruit.

Outdoor Club Plans Party For Children

The Cumberland Outdoor Club will hold its annual Christmas party for children at 2 p. m. tomorrow at its quarters on Frederick Street. Films will be shown and treats distributed.

In charge of arrangements are William Wagner, Leo Fuller, Robert Taylor, Joseph Cantone and Harry Mills.

Barton Home Damaged By Early Blaze

Loss Estimated At
$4,500; Midland
Firemen Give Help

An early morning fire gutted part of a Barton area home today and its occupant narrowly escaped injury when he awoke to find the dwelling burning.

Fire Chief James Lamberson of Barton Hose Company 1 said two downstairs rooms in the seven-room residence of Carl Langham, Bartlett Run, were damaged badly.

Langham, suffered burns on both hands when he left the burning home shortly after he was awakened by the heat and smoke. Langham also complained of his throat. A Kelly-Springfield Tire Company worker, he resides alone.

Damage $4,500

Damage to the home was estimated at $3,000 and to contents, $1,500. This latter group included several high-powered rifles and shotguns in addition to furniture.

The call was received at 5:45 a. m. and the Barton Volunteer Fire Company responded with two pumps, a tank truck and an equipment truck.

Lamberson said the fire was brought under control within minutes after the firemen arrived, but the firemen had to use water carried in their vehicles.

Midland Assists

The area where the home is located is not furnished with water from Barton's town supply, although it is near the reservoir.

Shortly after arriving, Barton firemen called the Midland Volunteer Fire Company to assist them with their tank truck and its supply of water.

Lamberson said the company's trucks had to be refilled from Georges Creek as there was no water in the town's hydrants due to the critical water shortage there.

Twenty-five firemen answered the call.

Westernport Water Ruling Is Reversed

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The city of Westernport faced the alternatives today of purifying water it pipes elsewhere or shutting off those lines.

That was the effect of a Court of Appeals ruling yesterday which upheld State Board of Health contention the city could not pipe out unpurified water.

Action by the state's high court reversed a ruling in Allegany County Circuit Court. The appeals court sent the case back for entry of an order to comply with its decision.

Westernport, located in Allegany County, has been selling 19 Garrett County families' water for about 20 years. The water was chlorinated but the town recently built a filtration plant within its city limits where it plans the purifying process in the future.

State health officials sought an injunction to stop discontinuance of a chlorinator at the confluence of the Savage and Potomac Rivers. They declared that eliminating it would constitute a "public health menace" for persons who tap into the transmission line en route to Westernport.

If the city decides finally to do away with the dam chlorinator, it apparently leaves the Garrett County families the choice of installing individual purification systems or developing their private water systems.

Also getting water from the pipeline is the Bloomington Water Co. and the wood yard of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co., which has 75 workers.

Father Was Mayor

He was born September 28, 1869 in Greencastle, Pa., the son of the late William G. and Adeline Virginia (Hamml) Mellinger. He was four years old when his family moved to Cumberland.

His father was elected Mayor of Cumberland in 1896 and later was commissioner of water and electric light for six years until his retirement in 1908.

He is survived by a brother, Robert W. Mellinger, this city; two sisters, Mrs. Lillian Brotemarkle, this city, and Mrs. Evelyn Webb, Des Moines, Iowa, and a number of nieces and nephews.

He attended St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

The body is at the Stein Funeral Home where friends will be received from 7 to 9 p. m. today and from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m. tomorrow.

Services will be conducted at the funeral home Monday at 2 p. m. by Rev. John F. Sammel, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church. Entombment will be in Rose Hill Mausoleum.

The family requests that floral contributions be omitted.

Phone Pole Again 'Victim' Of Collision

A telephone pole on Baltimore Avenue that has been the frequent 'victim' of collisions with vehicles was snapped off again early this morning, according to a police report filed by Officer James Mason.

The offending vehicle today was the contract mail truck which makes daily deliveries between Baltimore and Cumberland. The driver, William W. Gibson, 44, of Baltimore, has been summoned to appear for a hearing in Police Court next week. The vehicle was badly damaged, Officer Mason's report states.

PREPARE CRIB SCENE—Employees of the City Street Department are shown putting the final touches on the Nativity scene which is a feature of the municipal Christmas decorations on the grounds of Emmanuel Episcopal Church. Placing the figures in the setting are George Weaver and J. L. Hymes. The tree will be lighted tomorrow at 9:15 p. m.

Negotiations Continue In Glass Strike

CINCINNATI (AP)—Negotiations make another stab at reaching agreement in the long Pittsburgh Plate Glass strike today.

A series of individual sessions on each of 11 plants involved, plus another general session, kept delegates from company and the United Glass and Ceramics Workers Union at the bargaining table yesterday until early evening.

Talks were shifted here after sessions failed in three other cities. The walkout began Oct. 6.

Wages are not an issue; the chief dispute is reported to be proposals to change classifications for workers and cut down the size of work crews.

Federal Mediator H. J. Montoney said last night there is no notable progress to report, but he hopes to continue the talks through the holidays in an effort to reach accord.

Two Persons Hurt In Road Collision

Two Cumberland people were injured, and one of them hospitalized, as a result of a two-car accident early this morning on U. S. Route 40 on Eckhart Flat.

Admitted to Miners Hospital, Frostburg, was Ruth Lee Siefers, 36, of 808 Columbia Avenue. At-lashes said she suffered a possible broken left leg, lacerations and abrasions. She was a passenger in a car operated by DeSales F. McDade, 37, of 316 Baltimore Avenue, who was released from Miners after treatment for minor injuries.

State Police said the McDade vehicle was traveling west on Route 40 when it was struck by an oncoming car operated by William D. Hager, 37, of Frostburg. Hager apparently escaped injury in the accident.

No charges have been preferred pending completion of the investigation.

Drive Nets $296

The Cumberland Kiwanis Club collected $296.55 yesterday while naming the Christmas kettles for the Salvation Army, bringing the Christmas Cheer fund to $1,918.40.

West Virginia To Seek Federal Financial Aid

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Federal aid will be sought for West Virginia in the form of direct financial help or through defense, recreation, highway or other building projects.

This was disclosed Friday following a meeting of the Democratic legislative steering committee on the problem of the state's sagging economy.

Senate President Ralph J. Bean (D-Hardy), acting as spokesman for the committee, said Gov. Cecil H. Underwood had pledged his cooperation.

The group's immediate aim is a meeting to present the problem to President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon and House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.).

Bean said it was contemplated that such a session would be attended by a committee of five each from the House of Delegates and Senate, Gov. Underwood, and the West Virginia congressional delegation.

Return Visit; Roads
Icy In Some Areas

The cold weather, conspicuous by its absence for three days, returned to this section with a combination of snow, freezing rain and winds.

The temperature in Cumberland got up to 57 degrees yesterday, and by this morning had dropped 24 degrees to a low of 23 degrees.

In addition to falling temperatures, Garrett County received three and a half inches of snow.

Route 40 Icy

From Cumberland west to Frostburg, which had three-quarters of an inch of snow, Route 40 was icy from a light freezing rain. East of Cumberland the roads were bare.

The forecast for Allegany and Garrett Counties calls for snow flurries and much colder tonight with early morning lows of between eight and 15 degrees. Tomorrow is to be partly cloudy and colder and Monday is to be fair and cold.

The same forecast holds true for nearby areas of West Virginia and Western Pennsylvania.

Road Crews Out

Garrett County which received the brunt of the snow in this section started to get snow at 11:30 p. m. yesterday and by 2 a. m. State Roads Commission crews were out chiseling, sanding and salting. Roads were reported 100 per cent covered in that region.

Route 40 from Frostburg to Cumberland along with other roads in the higher elevations of this county were slick early this morning, but chiseling solved most of the problem.

In West Virginia, freezing rain and light snow fell over much of the state during the night. The Thomas-Davis section this morning had two inches of snow.

Plant Guards Ratify New Luke Contract

Local 135, United Plant Guard Workers of America, has voted to ratify a new two-year contract offered by West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company at its Luke mill, according to Dan R. Staley, mill personnel manager, who said he was informed today of the action by a representative of the union.

The new contract covering the 24 guards at the mill provides for a wage increase ranging from four cents an hour, at the hiring rate, to six cents an hour.

Also included is improved hospital insurance coverage, an improved vacation plan of three weeks off after 10 years service, instead of 15 years as at present, and improved vacation scheduling.

The contract was written for two years after the union asked for a term longer than one year. A reopening clause permits wage revision on or after December 31, 1959.

The contract becomes effective January 1, 1959, and expires January 31, 1961. Negotiations were conducted at Luke on Thursday and yesterday.

All three local unions at the Luke mill have ratified new contract offers.

Earlier this week the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL-CIO), representing 104 employees at the company's Luke, Covington, Va., and Williamsburg, Pa., mills voted to ratify a new contract offer.

More than a week ago Luke Local 676, United Paper Makers and Workers (AFL-CIO), voted by a better than four-to-one margin to accept the company's new contract offer covering its 1,700 members at the Luke mill.

The Electrical Workers begin to collect their benefits under their new contract as of December 8, and the guards on January 1, but the UPW local, although it has ratified, is a member of a three-mill bargaining unit and must await ratification by the Covington and Williamsburg locals and the international union.

Man Had Own Solution To Car Parking

An Ellerslie man thought he had a fool-proof method of beating the parking situation in Cumberland, but found out that his ingenuity cost him many nickels.

The man was seen putting a paper bag over one of the city's parking meters yesterday and a charge of tampering with the city's property was placed against him. At this morning's hearing in Police Court he stated he did not feel his action constituted tampering, but Trial Magistrate Morris Baron found him guilty of the charge and fined him $10.

The Ellerslie man said he had time left on the meter and wanted to save the space while driving away on a matter of business. He was advised that the Police Department was the only place where "legal" bags could be obtained to cover parking meters, and that they were dated and initiated by the desk sergeant.

City Asking Tax Relief Through Law

A number of requests were made by the Mayor and Council for legislation during this term of the General Assembly when city officials met last night in City Hall with Allegany County delegates and senator.

The program presented by William R. Carscaden, city attorney, has as its aim the elimination of overlapping city and county functions and addition of revenue sources to raise municipal workers' pay.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech said the city next year will be faced with a grave issue as it must find a way to get more revenue for city workers, who have had no increase in wages in recent years while the cost of living rose to the skies.

Tax Rate Limited

He said the Mayor and Council can't and doesn't want to raise the tax rate and needs urgently some additional sources of revenue.

The authority for the additional sources of revenue would have to come from the Legislature, he said.

He pointed out that Cumberland, with the highest tax rate in Maryland, is concerned with the overlapping of city and county functions, and will discuss the issues with the Allegany County Commissioners.

An instance, Carscaden said, is Memorial Hospital. When the hospital asked for funds, he said, they were provided by matched city and county funds, with the city paying all of its share and helping pay the county's share.

The Health Department, he said, is a county and state function, yet the city provides free quarters on the second and third floors of the Public Safety Building and the basement of City Hall.

Fire Aid Asked

Requested was relief from a portion of the cost of the Cumberland Fire Department.

Carscaden said the county contributes to every volunteer fire department in the county but that the city, which pays half the bill, gets nothing.

The Juvenile Court, he added, is purely a county function, yet the City of Cumberland must, by law, contribute $2,500 a year toward its support.

The city advised the legislators that if the county library plan is adopted, with a resulting two-cent boost in the county tax rate, the city would halt its present support to the Cumberland Free Public Library.

The Delegation was asked to consider a new formula for the distribution of state road funds. It was pointed out that the city gets $800 a year per mile to maintain roads.

Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, asked if there were a chance of reintroducing a plan to give municipalities a share of speeding fines.

Cites Crossing Guards

The Board of Education, Mr. Carscaden said, should pay the cost of Cumberland's crossing guards, as is done in Salisbury.

Mentioned as possible sources of revenue by Mayor Keech were a $2 tax on car registrations and a one-cent cigarette tax.

Re-elected To Post

Paul K. Collins, 611 Louisiana Avenue, has been re-elected a national keyman of the Pittsburgh Synod of the Churchmen's Brotherhood of the Evangelical and Reformed Church.
